What is a Declaration?

Different groups have different labels for essentially the same thing: some groups call them declarations, some call them confessions, and some call them affirmations.

A definition of a declaration in a spiritual context is an emphatic statement of faith, truth, or belief, spoken aloud to affirm one's spiritual identity, align with what is believed to be God's will, or make known divine truth.

A key consideration is that a declaration should align with the truth in God's word. You can say almost anything, such as, "Elon Musk is going to give me $1 million." But does that have any basis in Biblical truth? No.

For that reason, I actually prefer the term confession, which is the term the Bible uses. It is the Greek word homologeō, which combines the two Greek words homo, meaning "the same", and logeō, meaning "to speak or say." So to confess God's word is to say the same thing it says.

We are familiar with the concept of confession of sins, where it is admitting wrongdoing, but the New Testament uses confession to mean a statement of faith or belief 8 times as much as it does the confession of sins.

Declarations are meant to be spoken

You can receive benefits from reading declarations and scriptures, but it is much more powerful when you speak them.

Joshua 1:8 This Book of the Law shall not depart from your mouth, but you shall meditate in it day and night, that you may observe to do according to all that is written in it. For then you will make your way prosperous, and then you will have good success.*

Declarations for Speaking Life

The Lord could have told Joshua only to meditate on the Law, but He began by saying, “This book of the Law shall not depart from your mouth.” The Hebrew word for meditate also means to speak, mutter, utter, or talk, and its root means to murmur. Speaking the Word is a key part of meditating on it.

The goal of making declarations is to change what you believe. We are familiar with the verse, “Out of the abundance of the heart, the mouth speaks” (Matthew 12:34). Well, the reverse is also true. You can put things into your heart and change what is in there by speaking them consistently.

Make it personal

One way to take scripture and turn it into a declaration is by putting yourself in the passage and making it personal. For example,

2 Corinthians 5:21 21 For He made Him who knew no sin to be sin for us, that we might become the righteousness of God in Him.*

As a declaration you could say, “He made Him who knew no sin to be sin for me, that I might become the righteousness of God in Christ”. Or you could also shorten it down to “I am the righteousness of God in Christ.”

You can obtain your declarations from lists like those provided below. However, another aspect of making it personal is to come up with your own list that has to do with the specific areas you want to work on – your own goals and aspirations.

Be Consistent

Consistency is the key to making declarations. You’re not going to get results just by saying things a few times. You have to turn it into a habit so that it becomes your default response. Like toothpaste, when pressure comes and you are squeezed, you want the Word of God voiced personally to you to come out of your tube.

We also need to realize that it will take time. If you are trying to build muscle, you don't work out once and the next day look like Arnold Schwarzenegger. You must persevere – keep at it and don't quit. There may even be some discomfort as you are working muscles you aren't used to working.

The key to perseverance is believing that your efforts will lead you to your goals. Towards that end, we should celebrate our progress on the way. You're trying to lose 40 pounds, and you've lost 10. That's a win! In your self-talk you don't call yourself stupid as much as you used to. That's a cause for celebration!

When you first start making declarations, you may feel a bit uncomfortable saying things that aren't yet a reality in your life. That's OK – remember God calls those things that do not exist as though they do (Romans 4:20).

Why We Make Declarations

The primary goal of making declarations is to change our beliefs – about ourselves, about others, and about God.

The fact is that our words have great power. We see this in James 3:

James 3:1-5 ¹ My brethren, let not many of you become teachers, knowing that we shall receive a stricter judgment.*

Declarations for Speaking Life

² For we all stumble in many things. If anyone does not stumble in word, he is a perfect man, able also to bridle the whole body.

³ Indeed, we put bits in horses' mouths that they may obey us, and we turn their whole body.

⁴ Look also at ships: although they are so large and are driven by fierce winds, they are turned by a very small rudder wherever the pilot desires.

⁵ Even so the tongue is a little member and boasts great things. See how great a forest a little fire kindles!

What is the purpose of a bit in a horses' mouth, or a rudder on a ship? It controls the direction or course that the horse or ship is going in. If Paul were alive today he might make the analogy of the steering wheel on a car.

Your life will be pulled in the direction your words are pointing towards. If a primary goal of declarations is to change your beliefs, then you are going to have to speak things that are higher than where you are at present. You are speaking of where you want to go.

I go into these subjects in much more detail In my hungryfortheword blog, “Life is in the Power of the Tongue”:

Or in my book, “Where Real Transformation Comes From”:

PROSPERITY AND SUCCESS

The word prosperity in its most basic form means to succeed in reaching. To succeed in reaching your goals and aspirations. Finances is only one part of it.

A key to being prosperous is found in Joshua 1:8:

Joshua 1:8 ⁸ This Book of the Law shall not depart from your mouth, but you shall meditate in it day and night, that you may observe to do according to all that is written in it. For then you will make your way prosperous, and then you will have good success.

There is inward prosperity – the prosperous soul – and outward prosperity. Inward prosperity is more important than outward; outward prosperity flows from first having inward prosperity.
